Amsterdam, The Netherlands

A private canal cruise offers a unique glimpse of the most noteworthy landmarks and a firsthand look at the integral role waterways and canals have played for centuries in the life of this city. Ringed by concentric canals lined with UNESCO World Heritage site 16th- and 17th-century row houses, charming houseboats and world-renowned museums, Amsterdam is brimming with history and artistic wealth. See the Rijksmuseum's prestigious collection of the Dutch masters' works.

Volendam

Eighteenth-century row houses, sleepy canals and a picturesque waterfront evoke the glory days of the Zuiderzee and typify the beauty and charm of the Dutch fishing port of Volendam, where many residents still don the traditional dress of the region. Built along the top of a dike, the village's primary Amsterdam's charming bridges and picturesque canals bring the intimacy of a small town to one of Europe's most celebrated cities.

Step back in time in the charming port of Volendam, a traditional Dutch fishing village.

throughfare is lined with colourful cafés and purveyors of fresh fish, handmade cheeses and a myriad of traditional crafts.

Venlo/FLORIADE

In 2012, Venlo is the host city for FLORIADE, Europe's largest global horticultural exposition. Held only once every 10 years, this dazzling international showcase features flora from around the world, never-seen-before sustainable architecture and exquisite floral and plant displays.

Antwerp, Belgium

Antwerp preserves its Flemish culture and charm in its Old Town. A labyrinth of squares and narrow passages lead into the spectacular Grote Markt, where beautifully preserved guildhalls once bustled with Antwerp's 17th-century merchants and tradesmen. It is also a repository of the 17th-century Baroque masterpieces of the city's native son, Peter Paul Rubens. See Rubens' masterpieces, Resurrection and Assumption, in the Cathedral of Our Lady, the pride of Belgium with its remarkable 47-bell carillon and soaring 404-foot, delicately ornamented spire.

Bruges

From the Market Square to the Chapel of the Holy Blood, Bruges exudes the timeless atmosphere of Europe on the eve of the Renaissance. This UNESCO World Heritage site is one of the best-preserved mediaeval towns in Europe, built around a double ring of picturesque canals and connected by charming arched foot bridges. The magnificent façades of opulent cathedrals and deftly crafted stone guildhalls, where merchants conducted business, stand as reminders of the incredible wealth and power Bruges once possessed. See Bruges' treasured architecture, virtually untouched since the 15th century, from the very best perspective—aboard your private canal cruise.

Willemstad

The fortified town of Willemstad retains an aura of the 16th century in its timeless harbour, green polder landscape and the well-preserved ramparts and bastions established by William of Orange, for whom the town was renamed.

Kinderdijk

Designated a national monument and a UNESCO World Heritage site, Holland's greatest concentration of old windmills provides an opportunity to see firsthand the internal workings of an authentic windmill. Little has changed here since the mid-18th century, when 19 tall, wooden windmills were erected side by side at Kinderdijk to drain the Alblasserwaard, one of many regions in The Netherlands below sea level. Though no longer used to monitor water levels, the windmills are still one of Holland's most picturesque sights and represent examples of the exceptionally advanced achievements of 18th-century Dutch engineering.

Aalsmeer

Since the 17th century, flowers have been a major Dutch industry. Visit the Aalsmeer Daily Flower Auction, the world's largest, where the international market prices for flowers and plants are determined each day. Almost 19 million flowers are sold to distributors each day in the world's third largest building (nearly 985,000 square metres).

Antwerp's 16th-century Cathedral of Our Lady was inscribed on the UNESCO World Heritage list of Belfries of Belgium and France in 1999.

Keukenhof Gardens

Keukenhof's name translates to "kitchen garden" and was inspired by Countess Jacoba of Bavaria who lived in a nearby castle and maintained her herb garden on this site in the early 15th century.

Currently a brilliant and breathtaking tapestry of colours and fragrance when in full bloom, Keukenhof Gardens is deservedly known as the "Greatest Flower Show on Earth." More than seven million flowers are expected to be in bloom across this 77-acre wooded park in a dazzling display of colour, unlike any other on earth, weather permitting. A showcase for Dutch bulb growers, Keukenhof Gardens features more than 1,000 varieties of tulips, daffodils and hyacinths.

FLORIADE

World Horticultural Exposition
Held once every 10 years!

Explore FLORIADE, the world's largest horticultural exposition, held only once every 10 years. Inspired by Holland's singular reputation for dazzling, expansive tulip fields, this unique opportunity offers one-of-a-kind flora; the best landscape architecture; the best of innovative, "green" architecture; a showcase of floral design; the interconnection of horticulture and health; and a display of advanced growing techniques.

Near The Netherlands/Germany border, in Venlo, one of the regions that form the driving force of the entire Dutch horticultural industry, nations from around the world will gather to create a blossoming horticultural universe of never-seen-before sustainable architecture and exquisite flowers, plants, trees, fruits and vegetables characteristic of the flora unique to each country. This global spectacle becomes a living, breathing representation of how horticulture benefits and influences the economy, education, environment, art, architecture, entertainment, relaxation and healing. FLORIADE 2012 defines the interconnection between nature and culture.

Rich in history and archaeological elements, Venlo will showcase its mediaeval fortification system and artifacts, dating from the Mesolithic Period and the Bronze and Iron Ages throughout FLORIADE 2012, and the site will remain a sustainable entity.
